Discover Central Vermont Martial Arts: A Family-Friendly Dojo in Moretown

Central Vermont Martial Arts (CVMA) stands out as a premier destination for martial arts training, located conveniently in Moretown, Vermont. Known for its inclusive atmosphere and an array of amenities, CVMA is dedicated to providing a welcoming environment for everyone, including families, children, and individuals with specific accessibility needs.

Accessibility Features to Enhance Your Experience

One of the key strengths of Central Vermont Martial Arts is its commitment to accessibility. The facility offers wheelchair-accessible seating and a wheelchair-accessible car park, ensuring that all students can participate comfortably. For those with hearing difficulties, an assistive hearing loop is available during classes. Additionally, the school features gender-neutral toilets, making it a transgender safe space that promotes inclusivity within the community.

Family-Centric Programs and Discounts

Families will find CVMA to be a perfect fit, with specially designed programs for kids and adults. Many parents have shared their positive experiences attending family classes alongside their children. With classes scheduled at convenient times, parents can engage in martial arts training together with their kids. Moreover, the dojo offers discounts for kids and a family discount program, making it an affordable option for families looking to bond through martial arts.

Supportive and Encouraging Environment

The heart of CVMA lies in its instructors, particularly Sensei Jeremy and Sempai Cory. Both coaches are known for their positive, engaging teaching styles that resonate well with students of all ages and backgrounds. Parents have expressed appreciation for the supportive atmosphere where children feel comfortable, even when learning new skills. As one parent noted, "Jeremy and Cory have a really good sense of what works with kids," which contributes to a nurturing learning environment for future martial artists.

A Diverse Community and On-Site Services

CVMA proudly identifies as an LGBTQ+ friendly dojo, encouraging a diverse mix of students. This commitment to inclusivity fosters a sense of belonging for everyone involved. The school also emphasizes personal growth and teamwork, with classes designed for various skill levels, from novices to experienced practitioners. Students often comment on how the dojo feels like a family, stating, "I consider my teachers and my fellow students another branch of my family."

Engaging Online Classes and Fun Learning Atmosphere

In addition to in-person training, Central Vermont Martial Arts offers online classes that allow students to train from home. This flexibility has opened doors for many newcomers who may not yet feel ready for the dojo environment. The curriculum balances traditional martial arts techniques with a modern approach, ensuring that learning remains enjoyable and effective. As one student described, "It's about showing up and trying, regardless of your long-term goals."
